Champagne Brunch draws crowd to Pelican Pointe Park

Pleasant weather, tasty eats and neighborly conversations set scene

More than 80 residents gathered in the picnic area at Pelican Pointe on Sunday, June 4 for a Champagne Brunch hosted by the Social Committee headed by Sheila Powell. Other neighbors helped to set up and clean up. Quiche, scones, fruit and salads were topped off with mimosas. The total cost of $887 was paid for with HOA dues. A popular rice dish was donated to the buffet by our neighbor Nagendra Mamik. (more photos page 3) ###

Important Pelican Pointe HOA update and reminder

- Following recent break ins at our mail kiosks, the locks on outgoing U.S. Mail boxes were strengthened with an inside bar, hopefully, making it more difficult for them to be pried open.
- Per Pelican Pointe Homeowners Association Rules, short-term rentals of units are not permitted. Such as no AIR BnB, etc.
- Be a good neighbor, take a few minutes now to review our Rules-- updated earlier this year..

Pelican Pointe Book Group

Thursday, July 20, 6:30 p.m.

Home of Toni Knight, Unit SS102, for wine, snacks and a good discussion. This month's book is Born A Crime: Stories From a South African Childhood by Trevor Noah. Known to most of us as the newish host of The Daily Show on TV, the book is an autobiography and tells of his life as half-white, half-black, in a country where his birth "violated any number of laws, statutes and regulations." Noah is a good story teller and appreciates the absurdity of a society in which his mother, when he was a child, would have to drop his hand while walking in the street and pretend he wasn't with her if a policeman showed up. The book will make for some interesting conversation.

All are welcome. Call Toni at 303-693-2842 to let her know if you plan to attend.
